Table rule – Disarming an opponent · adapted from SRD 5.2.1

SRD 2024 has no disarming rule. This sheet offers a table rule modeled on the Shove: an attack that replaces one of yours, against a saving throw by the target.

🎲 Quick summary:

1. Replaces one attack of the Attack action.
2. Target: Strength or Dexterity save, DC 8 + Str + proficiency.
3. Fail: the target drops one item it holds.
4. Target at most one size larger.

⚠ Change from 2014

SRD 2024 has no disarm rule: this is a table rule inspired by the 2014 option.

⚠ Flaw in the rule and fixes Table rule

The 2014 rule used an opposed check; here a saving throw keeps it close to the Shove.

💡 Narrative option: Table rule

The DM can describe the weapon flying or sliding across the floor.

Step 1 – Announce:

You replace one attack with "Disarm" (target in melee reach).

Step 2 – Check:

The target must not be more than one size larger.

Step 3 – Save:

The target rolls Strength or Dexterity, DC 8 + your Strength + proficiency.

Step 4 – Result:

On a failure the target drops the held item, which falls at its feet (or 5 ft away).

Step 5 – Pick up:

Picking it up costs the target an object interaction, and an Opportunity Attack is possible.

Example: Brann (DC 14) disarms a bandit's sword: failed Dex save, the sword lands 5 ft away.

⚠ Common questions:

Which attack is replaced?

One of the Attack action.

What save does the target make?

Strength or Dexterity, its choice.

What DC?

8 + Strength + attacker's proficiency.

What does it drop?

One held item, attacker's choice.

A larger target?

Impossible if two sizes bigger.

At range?

No, melee only.

⚠ Debate points and table options: Table rule

Strapped weapon

Does a lanyard weapon drop? Option: no.

Disadvantage

Disarming with a two-handed weapon. Option: no disadvantage.

Stealing the item

Can I take it? Option: no, it only falls.

⚠ Rule clarifications (answers found on the web, reworded):

Table rule

This rule isn't in SRD 2024.

Saving throw

It replaces the 2014 opposed check.

Shove

Same DC as the Shove sheet.

These points remain open to discussion: your feedback is welcome to refine this sheet.
