General rule – conditions · "Rules Glossary" appendix of SRD 5.2.1

A condition is an effect that changes what a creature can do. It lasts for the time the imposing effect states, or until ended (standing up ends Prone, for example). The SRD lists 15: Blinded, Charmed, Deafened, Frightened, Poisoned, Grappled, Incapacitated, Invisible, Paralyzed, Petrified, Prone, Restrained, Stunned, Unconscious, and Exhaustion.

The same condition received several times doesn't get worse: each source ends separately. Exhaustion is the exception: it stacks by levels (1 to 6). A creature immune to a condition doesn't suffer it.

🎲 Quick summary:

1. Identify the condition and its cause (spell, attack, trap).
2. Apply its effects: attack rolls, checks, saves, movement.
3. Note its duration and what ends it.
4. Check stacking and immunities.

⚠ Change from 2014

Exhaustion has 6 levels and reduces d20 rolls by 2 per level. Stunned no longer immobilizes. Unconscious includes Incapacitated and Prone. Invisible grants Advantage on Initiative. Incapacitated imposes Disadvantage on Initiative.

⚠ Flaw in the rule and fixes Table rule

The SRD gives each condition's effect but not always how it interacts with other rules (sight, noise, cover). Fix: the DM announces choices before the game.

💡 Narrative option: Table rule

The DM can describe the condition with sensations: a black blindfold over the eyes, a deafening hum, legs heavy as lead.

Step 1 – Identify the condition:

The spell, monster, or trap says which condition applies, and for how long. A target can have several conditions at once.

Step 2 – Apply the effects:

Read the table: Advantage / Disadvantage on attacks, automatic failures, Speed, lost actions.

Step 3 – Duration and end:

The imposing effect says when it ends (repeated save, duration, Concentration). Some conditions end by an action (standing up, escaping).

Step 4 – Several conditions:

Effects combine when they differ. Advantage and Disadvantage don't add up: if both apply, they cancel.

Step 5 – Exhaustion:

Each level subtracts 2 from d20 rolls (checks, attacks, saves) and 5 ft from Speed. At level 6, the creature dies. A Long Rest with food and drink removes 1 level.

Example: Brann is Restrained by a web and Poisoned by a bite: Disadvantage on attacks (two sources), Speed 0, Disadvantage on Dexterity saves. Attacks against him have Advantage.

CONDITIONS (5E, 2024 RULES) – THE 15 CONDITIONS

Condition	Effects
Blinded	Can't see; automatically fails checks requiring sight. Attack rolls against you have Advantage, yours have Disadvantage.
Charmed	Can't attack the charmer or target it with harmful abilities or magical effects. The charmer has Advantage on social checks against you.
Deafened	Can't hear; automatically fails checks requiring hearing.
Frightened	Disadvantage on ability checks and attack rolls while the source of fear is in line of sight. Can't willingly move closer to it.
Poisoned	Disadvantage on attack rolls and ability checks.
Grappled	Speed 0, can't increase. Disadvantage on attacks against any target other than the grappler. It can drag or carry you (1 extra foot per foot, unless you're Tiny or two sizes smaller). Ends if the grappler is Incapacitated or you leave its reach.
Incapacitated	No actions, Bonus Actions, or Reactions. Concentration broken. Can't speak. Disadvantage on the Initiative roll.
Invisible	Effects requiring the target to be seen don't affect you (unless the creator sees you). Worn gear is hidden. Attacks against you: Disadvantage; yours: Advantage. Advantage on Initiative.
Paralyzed	Incapacitated; Speed 0; automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves; attacks against you have Advantage; a hit within 5 ft is a Critical Hit.
Petrified	Turned to solid matter: Incapacitated; Speed 0; attacks against you have Advantage; automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves; Resistance to all damage; immune to Poisoned; unaware; weight ×10; stops aging.
Prone	Can only crawl, or spend half Speed to stand. Disadvantage on attacks. Attacks against you: Advantage if the attacker is within 5 ft, otherwise Disadvantage.
Restrained	Speed 0, can't increase. Attacks against you: Advantage; yours: Disadvantage; Disadvantage on Dexterity saves.
Stunned	Incapacitated; automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves; attacks against you have Advantage. Can still move.
Unconscious	Incapacitated and Prone; drops what it holds; Speed 0; automatically fails Strength and Dexterity saves; attacks against you have Advantage; a hit within 5 ft is a Critical Hit. Unaware of surroundings.
Exhaustion	Cumulative levels 1 to 6. d20 rolls reduced by 2 × level; Speed reduced by 5 ft × level; death at level 6. A Long Rest removes 1 level.

⚠ Common questions:

Can a condition stack?

No: the same condition received several times doesn't get worse. Only Exhaustion stacks by levels.

What does Unconscious add to Incapacitated?

It also makes you Prone, unaware, drops items, and grants Critical Hits within 5 ft.

Can I move while Stunned?

Yes: Stunned doesn't immobilize.

Can I attack while Grappled?

Yes, with Disadvantage against any target other than the grappler.

What does Invisible do against sight?

Attacks against you have Disadvantage, yours Advantage. A creature that can see you cancels the benefit.

How do I remove Exhaustion?

A Long Rest removes 1 level (with food and drink). Some spells (Greater Restoration) do too.

What does Paralyzed do?

Incapacitated, Speed 0, fails Strength/Dexterity saves, Advantage to attackers, Critical Hit within 5 ft.

Is a condition always magical?

No: the effect's text says whether it is magical.

⚠ Debate points and table options:

Table rule

Who sees what?

Blinded, Deafened, and Invisible depend on what the creature perceives. Option: the DM specifies for other senses (smell, hearing).

Standing from Prone

Standing costs half Speed. Option: keep it.

Restrained and spells

Can a Verbal or Somatic spell be cast? Option: the DM decides based on the restraint.

Frightened out of sight

Fear applies "in line of sight". Option: keep it.

Exhaustion and rest

Food and drink are required to remove a level. Option: the DM follows rations.

⚠ Rule clarifications (answers found on the web, reworded):

Stun and movement

Stunned doesn't immobilize: this is intended by the rules.

Hidden and invisible

A hidden creature has the Invisible condition; it ends when someone finds it.

Frightened and line of sight

The effect imposes Disadvantage only if you can see the source of fear.

Grappled and attacks

A Grappled creature can still attack: the condition only limits movement.

Telling if it's magical

The game text says whether an effect is magical; those from spells and magic items are.

Exhaustion

A spell like Greater Restoration can reduce Exhaustion.
